Millbrae Woman Killed When Hit by Two Autos

Mrs. Minnie O. Smith, about 30, Hillcrest Blvd., Millbrae, was killed Wednesday morning as she was crossing El Camino Real 84 feet south of Hillcrest Blvd. to catch a bus when she was struck by two automobiles, one of which failed to stop. It was the first San Mateo County traffic fatality of 1944.

Driver of the first car to hit Mrs. Smith was Iris Rempel, 18-year-old San Mateo Junior College student who resides at 413 San Anselmo, San Bruno.

Miss Rempel told Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. Louis B. Dematteis that she heard a thump, stopped her car, found the left headlight on her car broken, looked back and saw the body in the road. She talked to bystanders and asked someone to call an ambulance. She then drove home and got her mother, Mrs. Katharina J. Rempel, and returned to the scene of the accident.

Driver of the second car, which ran over the body, according to a witness, Eugene Garcia, 16, Millbrae, stopped at a nearby service station and then drove on.

Mrs. Smith was taken to Mills Memorial Hospital, but was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Mrs. Smith's husband, Wheeler Smith, a butcher at the Purity Market in Burlingame, was getting onto a southbound bus when the mishap occurred and heard the thump, he told friends, but not until he reached the store did he learn that it was his wife who had been hit. Mrs. Smith was to have caught a northbound bus to go to San Bruno, where she was employed at Eitel-McCullough's.

Miss Rempel was on her way to school when the accident occurred. It was dark and misty at the time of the crash, California Hwy. Patrolman Frank Chevalier, who investigated, said.

A search continued this afternoon for the driver of the second car involved.

Mrs. Smith was a sister-in-law of Bradlee Smith of Palomar Park, assistant county purchasing agent.

Beer Hits Cancellation Of Taxes

Supervisor Chairman Fred E. Beer Tuesday denounced the practice of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors of cancelling taxes on property taken over by the government, declaring "this is a move in the wrong direction."

The practice places a hardship on owners of other property, he said.

"In the future, when such request comes before the board, I will vote to refuse cancellation of such taxes," Beer declared.

Beer said that the county could not tax the government, but declared that if the county cancels taxes, it clouds the property when the government is through with it.

The supervisors today signed official documents which previously had bene voted upon cancelling certain taxes on property used by Western Pipe & Steel Co. and Bel-air Shipyards, both of which work under contracts of the U. S. Maritime Commission.

Beer said his statements were Personal and asked the board to give serious thought to the problem when tax cancellations are asked.

The board today spent considerable time wrangling over legal aspects of annexing Coastside property to the Half Moon Bay Fire Dist. The State Board of Equalization in a letter pointed out the difficulties that would be encountered in annexing the outlying districts and excluding certain property, as had been proposed.

It was decided that Assessor Martin J. Flynn, Asst. Dist. Atty. Daniel E. Sullivan and Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch, representative of the Coastside, meet with A. G. Mott, director of the evaluation division of the State Board of Equalization to iron out the legal obstacles and present their findings at the next meeting Jan. 18.

The board postponed action on the resignation of Frank Palmieri as chief of police of Millbrae until the next meeting.

A. H. Randall was reappointed to the County Civil Service Commission.

A hearing on annexation of Pilarcitos School Dist. to Half Moon Bay Elementary School Dist. was set for Jan. 18.

Raid Signals To Be Tested

Mayor Floyd D. Granger announced today that a test of air raid signal equipment will be held on Jan. 9 at 4 p.m., in Redwood City, Bayview, Friendly Acres, Emerald Lake and Palomar Park, in accordance with regulations specified by the Office of Civilian Defense and the army.

The all clear signal lasting 30 seconds will be sounded at these various points and reports on the effectiveness of the signals will be reported by members of the civilian defense organization assigned to check on them.

In compliance with army orders, publication of the signal test is made for the five days preceding date on which it will be held.

Wardens Favor Continuance

Retention of the air raid warden service in its present form is advisable, in the opinion of Redwood City air raid wardens, who met for the first time this year at the McKinley School auditorium Tuesday night.

Wardens present based their opinion on the fact that they have been trained for a specific duty, for which they may be called upon for the duration of the war. They wish to retain their identity, and be available for call in an emergency, and requested that the Redwood City War Council be so informed.

Mayor Floyd D. Granger and Chief Air Raid Warden W. H. Bard Thorpe outlined briefly the present program of the war council, and expressed appreciation for the fine work done by the wardens to date and their offer of full co-operation for the duration.

Two films, "The World at War" and the "News Review of 1943" were shown at the conclusion of the meeting.

Folies Feature

Inside this novel costume is one of the 80 beauties featured in Clifford C. Fischer's all-new Folies Bergere of 1944, now playing at Winterland in San Francisco. The glamorous show has just announced a policy of midnight shows every Saturday in addition to nightly performances at 8 and matinees on Sundays at 2.

There are 28 states in the republic of Mexico, each having its own governor, legislature and judiciary named in general elections.

Follies Adds Midnight Shows

Saturday midnight shows and Sunday matinees have been added to the regular schedule of the Folies Bergere at Winterland, in San Francisco.

The late Saturday shows start half an hour after midnight, while the Sunday matinees commence at 2:00 p.m. The special shows are in addition to regular nightly performances at 8:00 p.m. and are complete with cast of 120, including international stage stars and 80 beautiful girls.

Clifford C. Fischer has blended sophisticated French comedy with roaring slap-stick, and the gay and daring Can-Can with exquisite ballet in what he terms the "greatest of all Follies Bergeres."

Fun for the whole family on Sunday afternoon is promised by the follies' company, which includes famous vaudeville stars, dancers, and acrobats. Dazzling dance sequences star saucy Malcia and her delightful French dances, lovely Grace Poggi, prima ballerina Jeanne Devereaux, Sirki, Carlos Valadez, Rem Olmsted, and the Pickerts, who tap dance on stilts.

The world-known Cristiani family thrill children and adults with their daring acrobatic and bareback riding. Monroe and Grant bounce on the trampoline; the Shyrettos ride their high one-wheel cycles; and the famous Truzzi juggles plates, silver bals, Indian clubs and lighted torches. Ardelty, the Russian Bird of Paradise, performs daring feats on a trapeze.

Well known comedy dancers Bart and Mann delight with their burlesque ballet, and Willie West and McGinty, clown carpenters, keep crowds laughing with their antics.

Movie Comedian Charles Judell, as emcee, radiates merriment throughout the dazzling finale.

Steak for C. of C. Dinner, But There's a Catch to It

BY ELEANOR WASHBURN

One of those Ripley "Believe It or Not" stories is being told by E. W. (Ned) Butler, manager of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, as a highlight of the organization's annual dinner on Jan. 12. For, "believe it or not," steak is the piece de resistance of the meal.

Well, yes, Butler admits, there is a catch to it—or, if you are literal-minded, perhaps two catches. For the $2 charge for the dinner is merely incidental. Before the ticket is delivered, the would-be steak eater must surrender eight points. Butler was able to get some points from the ration board, but not enough for steaks for all, and in return he pledged a war bond sale at the dinner, for which the committee will provide a booth. This will be one of the starting guns of the Fourth War Loan Drive. Butler hastened to add that requiring points for such an occasion is not due to any ruling strictly of the local board, but is in accord with instructions issued from Washington.

The dinner will start off with shrimp cocktail, combination salad, celery, olives and pickles. Then, pointedly, comes the steak, accompanied by potatoes, another vegetables and Parkerhouse rolls (buttered, the menu says), topped off with apple pie a la mode and coffee or milk. The dinner is set for 6:45, and will be prepared by the Sequoia High School chef.

Butler promises that numerous boring after-dinner speeches will be conspicuous by their absence. Instead, the program will include chamber music, of the "soft" kind, electric organ and violin numbers, and other features not yet announced.

Speaker for the evening is James Mussatti, general manager of the California State Chamber of Commerce. Business matters on the agenda include a summary of the year's accomplishments, which Butler will give, and election of directors for this year. James Hedge is general chairman, and Ferris W. Miles, retiring president, will preside. The meeting will close at 10.

Howard Answers Herrscher Petition

Robert S. Howard has filed in superior court here an answer to Edmond E. Herrscher's petition for Howard's removal as executor of the estate of Fannie May Herrscher denying allegations made by Herrscher.

Howard, son of the late Mrs. Herrscher, denied that his petition for removal of furnishings from Herrscher's home at 1621 California St., San Francisco, was filed solely for the purpose of harassing and annoying Herrscher and denied that he caused the sheriff of San Francisco to break into his premises at the California St. address. He alleged that Herrscher allowed the sheriff to enter peacefully and without use of force.

Howard declared that a promissory note dated Jan. 2, 1941, executed by Herrscher and made payable to Mrs. Herrscher in the amount of $36,328, had been delivered to Herrscher. Herrscher in his complaint for Howard's removal as executor had charged that Howard refused to deliver the note.

Navy Man Struck By Car in R.C.

Melvin M. Hughson, 22, navy pilot, was struck by a car early Sunday morning while walking on Bayshore Hwy. near Middlefield Rd., and was taken to Community Hospital, Redwood City police said today.

He was released after emergency treatment for abrasions and contusions about the face and lips. The flier is temporarily stationed at Moffett Field. William M. Gow, 25, of 715 Hoover Ave., driver of the car, was not held by police.

Helen Burger Fills Civil Service Post

Mrs. Helen Burger, who had been with the state personnel board in Sacramento for many years until she resigned Jan. 1, is temporarily taking the place of George T. Stevens as secretary and personnel director of the San Mateo County Civil Service Commission.

The civil service commission was to meet this afternoon to discuss plans for securing a permanent replacement.

—AND, WAY BEHIND

They figure it takes five workers to back up each soldier. Men without munitions don't win wars. When you read of a million new men being drafted, that means a need for millions of workers behind 'em.

Don't overlook that word "behind." The soldiers are out there where the shooting is—where the hours are 24 a day, and where danger lurks at every turn. Sure we have a big job to do, but who are we to beef about it.

J-M IN WAR IN 1943

In 1943 over 4,000 J-M boys were fighting in the service of their country.

J-M plants rounded up 7,806,800 pounds of scrap metal.

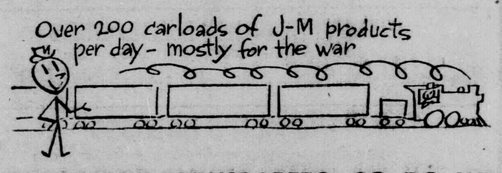
J-M set a blood donor goal of "a pint of blood for every J-M fighting man and woman"—which means over 4,000 pints.

The Army-Navy E was awarded to Manville (N.J.) and Lompoc (Calif.) J-M plants, and the Kansas Ordnance Plant, operated by J-M, won the E for the second time.

J-M Jarratt (Va.) plant was first industry in the State of Virginia to receive the National Security Award in recognition of protection against sabotage, fire and accidents.

J-M employees bought an estimated total of $2¼ million in war bonds.

And all J-M plants continued to ship over 200 carloads a day of products, mostly for the war.



TOM LIKED NEWSPAPERS; SO DO WE

"I would rather live in a country with newspaprs and without a government than in a country with a government but without newspapers."—Thomas Jefferson.

WANT TO REMEMBER IT AGAIN?

To fight inflation, buy more war bonds, save more money, spend less. In short, help keep money out of circulation, and let goods stay where they are.

Inflation — and what follows — are both bad for us workers. In the last war the cost of living rose 2½ times its pre-war level. And when deflation came, jobs disappeared. Thousands of workers who had started to buy homes, cars and things on installments, lost them. Wartime prosperity didn't mean a thing. Remember?

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO J-M PLANTS

Ships—especially war ships—have miles of pipes which call for insulation, and they have countless other uses for insulating materials.

It is hard for landlubbers to realize the vital importance of insulation in ship construction.

But workers in the Redwood City, Calif., Johns-Manville plant realize it, for about three-quarters of their Magnesia blocks and pipe covering go into Uncle Sam's ships being built on the West Coast. The other quarter goes into war industries.

ELECTRICITY
90 HORSES

LESS THAN A YEAR AGO her hands had operated no machine more powerful than a home vacuum cleaner. Now she, and 350,000 other California women, active, keen and alert, are doing man-sized jobs in the war plants.

Huge cranes, operated entirely by women, hoist heavy gun barrels and gun mounts, womens' hands run drill and punch presses, pull levers, press buttons in scores of noisy, war-busy manufacturing plants.

Electricity is the power for their work and with amazing aptitude these 350,000 women are operating intricate machines as easily as they run their home washing machine or kitchen mixer.

When this war ends, electricity will again work for these women in their homes. It will again do the work of housekeeping by means of cheap and easy-to-use electric appliances.

We salute California's women war workers. They are hastening the Day when Victory and Unconditional Surrender bring Peace to the World.

Flower Sale Income At New High

Growers of chrysanthemums and asters in San Mateo County received more than $2,000,000—far in excess of any other year in the history of the flower industry here—for their 1943 crops, County Agricultural .Comsr Max J. Leonard estimated today.

Gross returns to the growers of two major flower crops in the county were: Chrysanthemums, $1,500,000; asters, $600,000.

In 1942 these two crops brought growers a total of $1,500,000.

The tremendous increase was made despite a marked reduction in acreage . Surveys conducted by Leonard's staff show that there were 61 acres of asters and 110 acres of chrysanthemums grown in 1943, compared to 110 acres of asters and 171 acres of chrysanthemums in 1942.

The increase in value is accounted for by the fact that prices in 1943 were the righest ever received here, Leonard said. Another important factor was the long and very favorable growing season, weather conditions being ideal throughout the whole season, with a heavy production resulting, Leonard explained.

The principal aster-growing area in San Mateo County is south of Redwod City to the San Mateo-Santa Clar aCounty line. Plantings ranged from one-half to five acres in size. Chrysanthemums are grown from San Bruno on the north, to Menlo Park on the south. The largest individual planting was eight acres and the smallest one-quarter of an acre, Leonard said.

Youths Urged To Enter Navy Flight Program

Capt. C. L. Arnold, director of naval officer procurement for the Twelfth Naval Dist., today issued an appeal for young men 17 and 18 years of age to enlist in the navy's flight training program.

The navy program, open to high school graduates and to seniors who will graduate by Mar. 1, 1944, 17 and 18 years of age, leads to a commission as an ensign with the naval air forces.

Young men enlisting now for the navy program will receive eight months of college training at a navy approved college before starting their actual flight training. Captain Arnold urged all eligible young men to write or call at the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 703 Market St., San Francisco, for complete information.

OPA Reminds Dealers To Apply for Tokens

Retail grocery and meat market operators today were warned by the Office of Price Administration to file estimates of "ration token" requirements not later than Saturday.

The fiber tokens will be used in the present food and meat rationing operations, and all retailers will be required to have a stock on hand when the new program goes into effect the latter part of February.

Application forms may be obtained at all trade association headquarters, and through most wholesale supply firms.

The forms, filled out, must be filed by the dealer at his bank not later than Saturday. All dealers, regardless of whether they have "rtaion bank" accounts, must file, CPA said.

R.C. Officer Arrests Hit-Run Suspect

R. F. West, Redwood City police officer, effected the apprehension of Giovanni Faraudo of South San Francisco, an alleged hit-run drivev, police headquarters announced today.

West noticed the broken headlight on Faraudo's automobile as he was driving north on Bayshore Hwy. Sunday evening. A description of the car had been broadcast by Santa Clara highway patrolmen, with the information that he had supposedly struck and seriously injured a 16-year-old Mexican national on the Monterey Highway near Coyote.

Faraudo was turned over to a state patrolman who took him to San Jose, where he was lodged in the county jail.

Match-Light Search Fires Automobile

SAN MATEO—A search by match light for a bracelet lost in an auto seat Tuesday brought San Mateo firement to 605 West Poplar Ave. to combat a fire in a car belonging to Mrs. J. C. Storey.

The blaze was confined to the front seat and was soon extinguished, they reported. Mrs. Storey told firemen she had struck matches in the darkness of the car a short time before searching for a lost braclet. When she later saw smoke coming from the machine, she drove it from the garage and called firemen.

Draft Lists Three Delinquents

Chief Clerk George F. Paul today released the names of three persons under the jurisdiction of Redwood City-San Carlos-Belmont Selective Board who are delinquent registrants.

Named as delinquents were Thomas R. Madera, Frederick V. Snyder and Carl Lloyd Martin.

Paul urged that anyone, knowing the whereabouts of any of these to notify the draft board here, as this notification may save the delinquents from apprehension by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Burlingame Man Killed in Action

BURLINGAME—A telegram arriving here New Year's night conveyed information from the war department that Howard E. Miller, 21, former football star at Burlingame High School and San Mateo Junior College, has been killed in action.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. J. Miller of 209 Dwight Rd., Burlingame, and husband of the former Betty Bettinger, of Hillsborough. They were married on Oct. 24, 1942.

At a date to be announced later, Father Lyne will conduct memorial services for the soldier.

Miller was a private in the marines, a member of a tank corps and is believed to have gone to his death on one of the South Pacific islands.

Reserve Students Enter OCS School

STANFORD — Fifty-one former first year advanced Stanford reserve officer training students who have been studying here under the army specialized training program for the last few months, left Saturday for Fort Sill, Okla., to enter the Field Artillery Officer Candidate School.

Local men included in the list are: William H. Green of Atherton, Robert C. Hannah, and Leonard J. Levy, both of San Mateo; John R. Bradley and Charles R. Collier of Belmont.

These men have been sent to Fort Sill by the war department in keeping with its announced policy of placing ROTC in OCS as vacancies occur. Upon completion of their studies at Fort Sill, the candidates who successfully complete the course, will be commissioned second lieutenants.

New Year Week End Uneventful

The New Year week end in San Mateo County was without event, with no traffic fatalities reported and only minor automobile accidents.

Thomas W. Camp of 318 Hawthorne, Palo Alto, received leg and thumb injuries at 11:10 p.m. Saturday when he was struck while walking along the right shoulder on Bayshore Hwy. in East Palo Alto by a car driven by John Domby, 64, 1650 Santa Cruz, Menlo Park. Camp, a night watchman at Fisher Research Laboratories in East Palo Alto, was treated at Palo Alto Hospital.

Two persons arrested over the week end by the California Highway Patrol for drunk driving were free today on $100 cash bail each. Alfred B. Spinks, 35, Los Altos, was arrested at 11:30 p.m. Sunday on Bayshore Hwy. between San Bruno Rd .and South San Francisco. He was charged with driving while drunk, speeding between 55 and 60 miles an hour and failing to stop at a red stop sign.

Albert Tobias, 43, San Francisco, was arrested for drunk driving on Bayshore Hwy. in the north end of the county Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

OPA Drives Against Gas Black Market

BURLINGAME — Rumors of widespread black market operations in gasoline throughout San Mateo County flared into the open Tuesday with OPA enforcement officers themselves lifting the lid.

An intensified drive against black-market gasoline operators is under way by OPA investigators throughout the entire Peninsula and Bay Area, according to Harry Regan, chairman of the Burlingame Price and Ration Board.

Regan stated that the drive is not only aimed at those dealing in black market gasoline, but also at holders of supplemental gasoline ration coupons who abuse the privilege of their additional allotments.

He emphasized this statement by explaining that his office, as well as the district office of OPA in San Francisco, has had called to the attention of its investigators case after case of holders of supplemental rations using their coupons for other than purposes intended at time of issuance.

In calling on support of the public to report illegal practices in regard to gas rationing, Regan said, "Every gallon of gasoline that goes into the black market or is used for a purpose other than provided for, cuts into the limited amount available for essential users.

"With the war in the Pacific making increasing demands on this area for gasoline, we cannot and will not permit any wastage."

He further declared that the OPA enforcement division intended to use the most drastic sanctions authorized by law against those guilty of gasoline rationing violations.

He said that with the support of the public the OPA was confident that gasoline black market and rationing violations could be stamped out.

REDWOOD CITY PHONE RC 1300

Council Airs Employe Home Issue

Redwood City's acute housing shortage in relation to city employes received a thorough airing at a meeting of the Redwood City City Council Monday, bringing into the open what was referred to as a constant "groaning and moaning" over the fact that five city employes, including the city clerk and the city manager, live outside the city limits.

During the course of the boiling discussion two facts were emphasized:

1. The charter requires that city employes live in the city.

2. There are no suitable places at reasonable prices to be found within the city—a fact which has been obvious to hundreds of homeseekers in recent months.

Councilman Carl A. Britschgi brought the matter to a head just before the close of last night's council session with the remark that he was sick of hearing "bickering about who lives in and who lives out" and the request that the matter be discussed thoroughly.

The request brought a flood of response in which all councilmen participated. City Mgr. Robert W. Mead defended himself and the other four employes. Chamber of Commerce Pres. Ferris W. Miles termed "preposterous" and criticism "buzzing around about such a matter."

Expressing relief that the subject had been brought into the open and declaring that he had felt he had been operating "under a cloud," Mead, who lives in Palo Alto, said he had been seeking a home since the time he took over as city manager. He cited as typical an experience yesterday in which a realtor took him to see a house selling for $11,500.

"It wasn't the type of house I'd want even if I could afford that price," he said. "It was 14 or 15 years old. I asked the realtor how much it had cost to build and he answered, '$900.' I asked him if he thought it was worth more now than it was at first and he said, 'no'."

Mead said all employes were searching just as thoroughly as he was, but that he felt all of them had an obligation to maintain services which was far more important than the fraction of the charter which requires residence in Redwood City.

Councilman Walter W. Hilton pointed out that the chamber of commerce manager had found a place and also declared he had heard rumors one employe was living in San Carlos and driving a city car to and from work.

Mead confirmed both statements, but declared the chamber manager was fortunate and that the San Carlos man lived just over the city line, was making every effort to find a home in Redwood City and used the car on city business.

Mayor Floyd D. Granger expressed apprehension of possible public reaction with the statement that "it would be used in April."

Other members of the council expressed the belief that the charter requirement could not be complied with under wartime conditions and that the public should be willing to make allowances.

City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy, when asked for an opinion, said he thought the city was not violating the charter because no law requires the impossible and those who prepared the charter did not anticipate any shortage of housing comparable to the present situation.

Mead asked the tolerance of the council and the people of Redwood City, declaring that the employes would continue to put forth every effort to become citizens of the community as soon as possible.

Hilton's request for a report on how many men take city cars home with them and his statement that he felt they should not be allowed to do so under normal conditions aroused another flurry of protest from Mead and other councilmen.

Mead said the men were subject to call at all hours of the day or night and should not be expected to have to get up in the middle of the night, use their own cars and perform a job for the city. He said the practice was not being abused, that he would hate to have to take the privileges away and that such action would be impractical.

Councilmen George W. McNulty and Britschgi were emphatic in their approval of the practice and in their belief that the employes were entitled to the right to travel to and from work as well as on the job in city vehicles.

City Council Adopts New Bicycle Ordinance Effective Today

Youngsters and others who leave bicycles on Redwood City sidewalks are due for a rude shock as a new ordinance, allowing temporary confiscation of vehicles and a fine for violation, goes into effect. The city council passed the ordinance at its regular meeting Monday and the new law is effective immediately.

It allows the police department to impound bicycles improperly parked and to fine adults not less than 50 cents nor more than $50 or 10 days in jail. It provides that juvenile offenders be taken before probation authorities.

Bicycle racks have been placed along city streets for the use of riders and to help them keep within the law.

Other business conducted by the council included a discussion of postwar planning for improvement of the fronts of Redwood City business houses. The program was suggested as an educational plan and was referred to the industrial committee for investigation after a brief exchange of words between Mayor Floyd D. Granger and Councilman Carl F. Britschgi.

Britschgi asked whether or not the council could legally do anything about enforcing such a plan and the mayor replied that the present program called only for voluntary action. The subject was dropped at that until the end of the meeting when Ferris W. Miles, president of the chamber of commerce, asked if any action had been taken.

The mayor replied that the council didn't seem to be interested.

Britschgi snapped:

"I think that's a dirty statement. All I asked was if it was legal. You're the one who ought to be accused."

Councilman Chester C. Armstrong broke in with a motion that the matter be referred to the industrial committee and the council approved.

Martin Flynn, county assessor again lost his fight for immediate removal of Lot 7, Vera Ave., from the fire zone as the council postponed action until the planning commission makes a report.

Flynn protested the delay and said he would be willing to stipulate that no building permits be issued for the property until after final zoning reconsideration, but the council expressed doubt that there was any legal way of accomplishing the purpose despite the fact that City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy declared a motion passed by the group would insure keeping of the stipulation.

Olin Nucholls, appearing for property owners protesting the change, insisted the council should hear from the planning commission before taking action.

Weltner Motor Co. also lost a new decision ot the council when members denied a renewed request that the firm be allowed to establish a second used car lot on El Camino Real adjoining to the south the firm's present building.

Atty. Wayne Millington, appearing for the firm, declared the development would be only a continuation of the present property, that the fact that Winklebeick St. runs between the firm's two buildings made no essential separation in the property. He argued that other dealers were doing the same thing, but council ruled the street separation would make the lots two separate establishments and refused the permit.

As an outgrowth of the application council asked City Mgr. Robert W. Mead to investigate reports that service stations are selling cars without permits and that other firms may be selling used vehicles from two lots. A city regulation requires that each organization have only one used car lot in the community.

Council also:

Approved inclusion in the job classification plan of a woman welfare worker to be associated with the police department.

Accepted a deed to a 4½-acre tract on the west side of Dickey St. between Roosevelt and Vera Aves. for development in the postwar period as a recreational area. The deed was accepted from Hollis Chenery Clark of Washington, D. C., for a consideration of $4000.

Granted a permit to Notre Dame Institute 124 to conduct a rummage sale Jan. 21.

Approved a restaurant license application by Helen F. Heiberg.

Established a loading zone on the north side of Marshall St. at Jefferson Ave. upon recommendation of planning commission.

Laid over until next meeting consideration of an ordinance regulating issuance of permits.

Heard a report from Bldg. Insptr. L. M. Duncan that the Lombardino property on Hamilton St. was being razed.

Passed a resolution certifying formation of the Redwood City War Council in conformance with state request.

Paid claims totaling $4796.11

Adjourned in memory of John A. Wilson and Irwin Ulmer, Redwood City men who died in the service of their country.

Truman R. (Bob) Letts, former Redwood City newspaperman and for several years a member of the staff of the San Francisco News, today had been named executive secretary to Mayor-elect Roger D. Lapham of San Francisco.

Letts was Lapham's first appointment in his new city administration. He is a graduate of Sequoia High School, Menlo Junior College and Stanford University. In his school days he was an editor of the Sequoia Times and of the Stanford Daily.

Letts covered the Olympic Games for the Associated Press in Berlin in 1932. He taught journalism for a time at Stanford. He is a former sports editor of the Redwood City Tribune and of the Palo Alto Times.

Letts, who was married in September, 1942, to Martha Deane of Hayward, is the son of Mrs. Edith Letts, 299 E. Brewster Ave., chief deputy in the San Mateo County recorder's office.

The executive secretary post carries a $380 monthly salary. Letts is to assume his new duties Jan. 8.

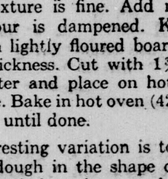
Julia tells- How to bake simple old-fashioned "Goodies"



NOW that we're starting out on a new year, it's not a bad idea to look back at some of the simple things our "foremothers" used to bake. Meat pies—apple pandowdies—hearty dishes of that good old-fashioned stripe. (And there are ways to get along with much less shortening than in many a "modern" recipe!)

I've been putting some of those time-honored recipes to the test in my own kitchen, recently, and as I watched the results disappear into my family's interested mouths, two facts came to mind: first, these foods are appetizing and nutritious, and second, they require relatively little of some ingredients which aren't always in plentiful supply these war-time days.

The second point really appealed to the practical in me. That, and the fact that these things are surprisingly easy to prepare. How long since you've tried making a meat pie with biscuits instead of crust, for example?

Curry Biscuits for Meat Pie

1 cup enriched flour
1½ tsps. baking powder
¾ tsp. curry powder
2 tbsps. chilled shortening
¼ to ⅓ cup milk
¼ tsp. salt

Sift flour, measure, add baking powder, salt and curry powder, and sift again. Add shortening to flour and cut in until mixture is fine. Add milk, stir until flour is dampened. Knead 15 times on lightly floured board, roll to ⅜-in. thickness. Cut with 1¾-in. biscuit cutter and place on hot stew in casserole. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 25 mins. or until done.

An interesting variation is to cut the biscuit dough in the shape of doughnuts, which lets the stew bubble up through the inner circles. Sound good? It tastes good!

And for dessert, how my family enjoyed old-fashioned apple pandowdy! (I wasn't at all sorry to see that, because it uses just about one-quarter as much shortening as pie!)

Apple Pandowdy.

5 cups thinly sliced apples
½ cup sugar
⅛ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cinnamon
⅛ tsp. nutmeg
1½ tsps. lemon juice
2 tbsps. water
¼ tsp. grated lemon rind

Combine apples, sugar, salt, spices, lemon juice, water and rind. Turn into pan (8 x 8 x 2); cover and bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 mins. Mix 2 cups standard biscuit dough, adding 1 tbsp. sugar to flour mixture. Knead gently 8 times, shape and roll into square (8 x 8). Fit dough over apples in pan, cut slits to let steam escape, and return to hot oven (450° F.). Bake 25 mins. or until crust is browned. Serve warm, with cream or plain. Makes 8 servings.
